Senator Daly is one of the delegates to the National Convention and it is generally believed that he has rubbed noses with some of the Western delegates and las come to New Jersey with a special assignment from the silver men. The position of Senator Smith is not known, but the delegates from the rural districts are leaning toward free silver.

"I mean to say that before the roll call on the first ballot is completed Gov. McKinley will be nominated, and therefore a second ballot will not be required."

Kinley will be nominated, and therefore a second ballot will not be required."

Confirmation of the McKinley programme as outlined in the foregoing by Mr. Heath was had from other sources.

The confident expectation of McKinley's managers is that Matthew Stanley, Quay will make the first break in the lines of the McKinley opposition. If this is true the purpose of Quay's recent visit to Canton is explained. The Quay break will occur, so the Ohioan's managers claim, when Pennsylvania is reached in the call of the roll on the first ballot. Quay having been previously placed in nomination as Pennsylvania's favorite son will, with theatrical fourishes befitting the occasion, appear on the stage and cast the solid vote of the Keystone State for McKinley. This, of course, is expected to create a stampede, and unless Clarkson, Platt and Manley can prevent it, other States with favorite sons will fall in line with Pennsylvania and the Canton Major's nomination unanimously and by acclamation will follow.

This, of course, presupposes that there is nothing in the talk of Filley about a rigid observance of the fixed rules which govern ventions. Uncle Filley quoted all of this Sunday, and if it is enforced Senate Quay will find that his cute little trick cannot be worked. Every favorite son except Quay will find that his cute little trick cannot be worked. Every favorite son except Quay will have been voted for before Pennsylvania is reached on the roll, and by the enforcement of Uncle Filley's "Rule 8" no change of the vote can be made until the roll call is completed and the result announced.

Then if McKinley is shown not to be nominated as Filley heater will be the TRENTON, N. J., June 8.—There is much joy in the camp of the Hobart boomers. The chilling reception which the suggestion that Garret A. Hobart should be given the nomination for Vice-President by the St. Louis convention has met outside of this State has been enough to dampen the ardor of anyone but a New Jersey Republican.

But a ray of sunlight has come from faroff Nebraska, and burst fortif from the elequent lips of Senator Thurston. In a recent interview Mr. Thurston said that Mr. Hobart was a very strong man, and just the one whom he would like to see nominated. The nomination of the New Jersey man, said Mr. Thurston, would insure the electoral votes of that State for the Republican ticket and would greatly strengthen the ticket. This recognition of the Hobart boom has had a wonderfully bracing effect upon the boomers, and they will go out to St. Louis on Saturday next prepared to develop a sentiment and make a hurrah for McKinley and Hobart that will make the other candidates tremble. Mr. Hobart will go to St. Louis in order to attend the meeting of the National Committee, of which he is a member.

PARIS, June 8 .- Jules Simon, the dis tinguished French statesman, formerly Premier, who has been dangerously ill for some time past, died at 11:40 o'clock this morning, aged 82 years.

M. Simon was born at L'Orient Dec. Zi, 1814. The name given him by his parents was Jules Francois Simon Suisse, but he adopted the name of Simon, and was never known by any other. He studied first at the little college in L'Orient, and at a similar one at Vannes, after which he entered the Lycee at Rennes as an assistant teacher. In 1835 he was received as a Fellow of Philosophy. A charge was secured for him at the Normal School in Paris, where for a time he was supplementary lecturer on the history of philosophy, but a year after his arrival in Paris he became the principal lecturer. In 1839 he succeeded M. Cousin, at impeached for "high crimes and misdemeanors."

He was elected a member of the French Academy in 1875, in place of the Comte de Remusat, and was formally received June 22, 1876. M. Simon was the author of a number of standard French philosophical and political works.

There was naught against Hill, and he served out his term of several years, the only Republican in the State House, and left it with the respect of every man he had dealings with.

His strong hold has been his integrity and the uniform courteous manner in which he conducts himself with white man.

Another interesting political fact in connection with Hill is that when he was appointed Internal Revenue Collector by Secretary of the Treasury John Sherman, he appeinted as his chief deputy Maj. George M. Govan, his former owner. Govan was foor, not having been able to recoup his fortune lost during the war. His wife, a reigning Mississippi belle, had carried to him along with other property the bright mulatto boy, James Hill. He was made a house servant, and Mrs. Govan had him taught to read. Hill was an apt student and his fair owner encouraged him to study, intending to make a minister of him, so that he could preach to his race. There were many such colored preachers before the war.

When Hill became a political factor, drew war.

When Hill became a political factor, drew a big salary and bossed the machine of Federal patronage, he put on a great deal of tyle, but he was grateful and the first opportunity he had he went to Mrs. Govan, told her that he owed what he was to her, and begged her to permit him to show his gratitude to her family in a substantial way. The result was Maj. Govan became one of Hill's deputies, to do very much as he pleased and draw a big salary.

Committeeman Hill and T. V. McCallister, also colored who is secretary of the State Central Committee, are at Hurst's. Both are confident of success, and in the event that Lynch is reuted Hill will succeed himself on the National Committee.

Mr. Hill does not expect a lengthy convention, and says that it will be the most formal National Republican Convention since the war, as the delegates will only have to re-scho the commands of the people, who demand McKinley for their candidate.

Mr. Hill does not expect a lengthy convention, and says that it will be the most formal National Republican Convention since the war, as the delegates will only have to re-scho the commands of the people, who demand McKinley for their candidate.

Hill says that he is not so chimerical as to hope to carry Mississippi for McKinley in November, but that he believes a larger number of white men will be found voting for him that any previous Republican Presidential candidate.

"Why do you make this assertion?"

"Because there are so many white people down there so thoroughly disgusted with Cleveland, they are swaring they will not per people down there so thoroughly disgusted with Cleveland, they are swaring they will verifie. opposition and throwing a bone of comfort to it in the naming of the temporary organization.

But the McKinley men are not to do too much "placeting." Until Hanna, Grosvenor and the other leaders of the Ohio candidate have carefully canvassed the situation as it exists just prior to the meeting of the National Committee Wednesday, the places will not be filled.

For Temporary Chairman an avowed enemy of McKinley might be named, because a temporary chairman has duties to perform which are purely perfunctory. A Reed man might be given the honor of filling the place. He could do no mischief. In the selection of a man to preside permanently, however, much care must be taken. A man of executive ability, good voice and firmness of character must be selected. It is within the power of the permanent chairman to turn many tricks in favor of his friends and against his enemies. Gen. Grosvenor of Ohio, Washington statistician for the McKinley boom, was asked the other day who would have the honor of directing the movements of the gavel in the big convention.

"You may depend upon it," was his quick response, "that he will be one whose fidelity to our cause will be certain. Too much depends upon the presiding officer for us to take any risks.

Gen. Grosvenor cited the convention of four years age at Minneapolis, when, if

Mr. Pracht is one of the most pronounced and enthusiastic McKinley men in Oregon, and it was due more to his influence, perhaps, than that of any other man that such binding instructions were given the Oregon delegates. He cannot see any one in this fight but the Canton Major, and believes his nomination will be a walkover.

"Why, McRa walkover.

"Why, McKnley will be nominated before the roll call has proceeded past the letter P." he said this morning. "After that point is reached the balance will be nothing more than a howl, an example of political fre-works of high order. When Pennsylvania is called six will vote for McKinley and the balance for Quay, but before this vote is recorded it will be changed to a solid sixty-six for McKinley. The very idaa of any diagruntled bosses like Platt thinking they can unite the disaffected elements and defeat McKinley is absurd, the veriest rot. Why there is no disaffected element. Every one is for McKinley.

"Of course there will be some few favorite sons voted for, but not many. Iowa will vote for Allison, but that's all the votes he will get, and he won't hold them. New York will give at least twelve votes to McKinley on the first ballot, and I would not be surprised to see that delegation break up and leave Morton long before the time comes for them to vote. Cullom is entirely out of it, and Reed's strength don't amount to enough to worry about.

"This has been a campaign of the people against the bosses, and the bosses have been downed hard. The McKinley campaign for the nomination has been a popular movement all over the country, and the election campaign will be merely a grand hurrah from start to finish.

A busier man than Tim Byrnes, the jolly sergeant-at-arms of the Republican National Committee would be hard to find. He is besieged with visitors, who come on all kinds of errands and with all kinds of requests pertaining to the gathering of the Republican hosts at the convention.

Mr. Byrnes' headquarters are located at room 324 in the Southern Hotel. When a Post-Dispatch reporter called this morning the sergeant-at-arms had no news to give out, but the incidents occurring during a ten-minutes' stay in room 324 will give an idea of what is going on.

First came two newspaper men from New York, who had been overlooked and wanted seats in the convention. They were referred to the Press Committee.

Next came a local reporter after news. "You are the forty-seventh newspaper man to-day," jocularly answered Mr. Byrnes, as he told him he had not a thing to give out in the way of news.

As the New York pencil pushers passed out Mr. Byrnes heaved a sigh and said: "Every little country newspaper on earth wants seats in this convention. Well, I'll just send them all to the Press Committee."

Next came a professor of music with an original song about sound money and Republican patriotism which he wanted to obleg for Reed? instead of the one now, but the cash will the candidate be if Reed refuses?" It ought to be a Southern man, but I hardly believe one from that section will be able to secure it. No New York man should be able to secure it. No New York man should be able to secure it. No New York man should be able to secure it. No New York man should be able to secure it. No New York man should be able to secure it. No New York man should be able to secure it. No New York man should be able to secure it. No New York man should be able to secure it. The fact it is not the man securing the place. The first is that he he was the securing the place of the first is that he he was the securing the place, but he cannot got it. I feel sure.

"The Indiana people are shouting for Mo-Alpen, but who is he! Then the Jersey-bid has any claims. This nomination is an open one, and will be the only interesting thing about the convention."

"Why, no. The Republican party is for gold, and chat's all there is to it. Besides, that is not the main issue. I be set if the place, but of Teller, Dubois, Carter and the other silver men if the white metal is given no reception."

leveral Delegations Have not Chosen

Their Headquarters.

Maj. C. C. Rainwater, chairman of tha local Hotel Committee, is at a loss to know where some of the State delegations will have their headquarters. By correspondence he arranged for the accommodation of many delegations, but he received no replies from several of them and hence he marked them or his book "unplaced."

South Carolina was one of these dilatory States. Maj. Rainwater received a letter Monday from E. M. Brayton, chairman of the delegation, stating that he and his colleagues will be at the Ladele. Mr. Brayton apologized for his delay in notifying Maj. Rainwater has a received word that the Indian Territory delegation will be quartered at Hurst's. Wisconsin headquarters will be at the Ladell, but Gov. W. R. Merriam of that State is booked to arrive at the St. Nicholas Tuesday.

The delegations which remain marked "unplaced" on Maj. Rainwater's books are those from Louisiana, Mississippi, Nevada. North Carolina, Alaska, Arisona, Delaware, District of Columbia, Florida and Virginia. Maj. Rainwater is waiting to hear from them in order to give them the benefit of the Hotel Committee's services.

A HANDSOME (AVEL. -

It Will Be Used by the Permanent

Chairman.

The gavel which will be used by the permanent chairman was received at the head-quarters of the local committee Monday morning and turned over to the Mermod & Jaccard Jewelry Co. by Secretary Galennie, where it will be on exhibition until the chairman is ready to use it.

It will be presented to the chairman by Senator Berry, one of the Illinois delegates. The gavel is an excellent piece of wood-carving, done by W. H. Bartels of Carthage, Ill., who is reported one of the most artistic carvers in the country. Mr. Bartels selected the wood—a hickory log taken from the log cobin occupied by President Lincoln at New Salem, Ill., in 1822. There are panels on either side which are filled in with inscribed plates of gold and silver. The silver end bears this inscription:

Carthage, Ill., From a Log of the Cabin In 1832, at New Salem, Ill.

The inscription on the gold plate reads

National Republican Convention Held at St. Louis, June 16, 1896. Nomination

The gavel is to be presented to the nominee at the conclusion of the proceedings. The donor is understood to be a bimetalist, as he showed no discrimination in the ornamentation of the gavel.

Senator Berry, who will present this handsome piece of work to the permanent chairman, is a son of an intimate friend and professional associate of Abraham Lincoln.

BUREAU OF INFORMATION.

Applications for Looms in Private Houses Coming in Fast. Business opened in a lively style at the Bureau of Information in the Exposition Building Monday morning. The opening presaged a heavy week and full preparations had been made by Chairman Devoy and Secretary Gaiennie to handle a rush. For weeks the bureau has been open and no difficulty was found finding accommedations desired by delegates and others who preferred private houses to hotels.

Delegates who are coming with their wives show a preference for quiet homelike places, not caring to have their families mixed up in the jam and confusion that is unavoidable at the large hostelires in convention times.

The bureau has a large list of families who have roome for visitors and every application is given brompt attention.

Secretary Gaiennie said there would be no difficulty in taking care of all the applicants, as there is still a considerable number of apartments not engaged.

DILATORY STATESMEN.

Politicians Are Slow About Putting in Their Appearance.

Their Appearance.

One of the notable peculiarities in these days preceding the great Republican National Convention is the lateness of the politicians in arriving in the convention city and beginning their operations.

Hotel men are inclined to look upon this unusual delay as being due to the apparent certainty of the nomination of McKinley and the consequent lack of hope of his opponents and their managers to accomplish anything by cabal or caucus. The Planters' will accommodate the delegates of fifteen States and yes, at this late date, but three National Committeemen have put in an appearance at the hotel, no delegates have arrived and there is no prospect of the opening of any State headquarters before Thursday.

Lindell's Bid for Traffic,

Edwards Whitaker, president of the Lindell Railway Co., is going out after a few extra shekels during the convention.

It has been popularly supposed that Col. John Scullin would have a monopoly on transportation facilities to and from the Auditorium.

Mr. Whitaker has completed arrangements by which his Compton Heights like will be diverted so as to pass within one block of the big hall. The cars will turn east on Clark avenue at Elighteenth street, running down to Fourteenth street, and thence south oven the Chouteau avenue division's track. This will make it possible for the Lindell to have a through line passing both Union Station and the Auditorium.

Wm. M. Osborne of Boston, Mass., will arrive in St. Louis Tuesday with Mark Hanna, McKinley's chief lieutenant. Mr. Osborne is one of McKinley's chief abouters. He has engaged four rooms at the St. Nicholas and will occupy them with a party of friends.

Damage Done. ST. PAUL, Minn., June 8.-Later reports

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 8.—Later reports from points in southwestern Minnesota which were swept by the great storm Saturday night show that four persons lost their lives and property was destroyed to the extent of over $300,000. Those drowned are: George Andrews, Gabula; H. T. Bulord, Murray County; J. W. Satterson, Ash Creek; E. W. Hunter, Adrian.

The greatest damage was in Rock County, the most southwestern county of the State. The rain fell in such torrents that the Rock Creek overflowed its banks and drowned live stock by the hundreds before they could get to the high ground.

In the region of Luverne the river was in places three miles wide. The water rushed into Luverne at such a rate that business houses were flooded many feet deep and their contents ruined. To add to the horrors of the situation calls for help were heard at midnight from all along the river. A rescuing party was organized and set afloat, but the swift current upset the boat and the party narrowly escaped with their lives. A second party was sent out as soon as possible and about twenty persons were rescued. It is not yet known whether any one was drowned at Luverne. Many of those rescued were found on housetops and in trees. Thousands of acres of crops were washed out and entirely destroyed. Many Luverne buildings were shattered by lightning and hundreds of feet of the Burlington & Omaha tracks were washed out.

Many rallway and wagon bridges were washed away at Adrian, Worthington, Hastings, Bird Island and Tracy.

The town of Dannebrog is flooded from the rushing waters of Oak Creek. From Dannevirke precinct in the northwest corner of Howard County and in the center of the storm district nothing has been heard yet. All bridges are gone and Munson Creek is so high that all communication is cut off.

Hailstones fell so thick in some places in this vicinity that they could be taken up by the shovelful. After the rain residents of Hyde Park picked up in one spot nearly a peck of shells and gravel. In another place in this suburb small fish and turtles were found in large numbers. Observer Cox states that the bearing of fish and shells and gravel from their original resting places to points miles away is due to the air vacuums, whirlwinds and straight winds which have prevailed throughout the West for a week past.

May 19, Bishop Bonacum wrote to Priests Fitzgerald and Murphy, citing them to appear before the Archb.shop May 27, or he would begin civil suits to eject them from the premises that they occupy.

The priests referred the notice to the Archbishop, who replied that he knew nothing about it. A few days ago Bonacum served another notice upon the priests, citing them to appear before Sctolli at Washington. This notice has also been referred to Archbishop Hennessy.

They started from Washington at 3:50 o'clock this afternoon and, if the time schedule is maintained, are due in St. Louis at 7:10 p. m. to-morrow.

They are traveling in a special train of Pullman cars over the Pennsylvania route. Most of the larger papers of the country are represented, but a few correspondents have been obliged to walt, anticipating lively times in the closing hours of Congress. With few exceptions the corps of corres-

With few exceptions the corps of correspondents anticipate short, quick work in St. Louis, a sharp fight over the platform and probably a sensational walk out from Convention Hall of the delegations representing silver States.

Whether the convention maps out a programme in line with their ideas or takes a sensational turn, the correspondents are coming prepared to be in the van, watching developments and keeping tab on the Republican leaders who will direct and manipulate.

Ing developments and keeping tab on the Republican leaders who will direct and manipulate.

In the list of those who are on the correspondents' special are many well-known throughout the country by virtue of their work with pen and pencil in the press gallery at the National Capitol. Most of them have had years of service wresting secrets from unwilling statesmen and foretelling accurately in advance important movements in State or diplomatic channels. They are also veterans in the art of following turbulent gatherings of national delegates and withal mines of information as to national politics and the records of statesmen who will be prominent in the deliberations of the convention which meets in St. Louis is Maj. William E. Curtis of the Chicago Record, whose chubby face and rotund figure are well known in Washington circles where statesmen of high degree congregate, believes in reciprocity. He ought to, for he is an authority on it. For some time Mr. Curtis has been assisting the Venezuela Commission in preparing important informatiog concerning the much discussed Schomburghk line in Venezuela. There is a rule of the press gallery which requires suspension from the privileges of the gallery all correspondents who accept service and pay from the Government. One day Mr. Curtis was shocked to find his name "posted" by the Press Committee. It was announced that he was receiving pay from the Venezuela Commission. For ten days he was debarred from the gallery until the high commission, in a grave, dignified way, informed the Press Committee that there was 30 "reciprocity" basis between it and Mr. Curtis.

The New York Times' Washington Bureau has at its head Mr. E. G. Dunnell, who has been a correspondent at the capital so many years only a few remember when he came. Mr. Dunnell is also chairman of the committee of five which directs and controls the press galleries of both houses. In this position he has served three years, because he has demonstrated that he can protect the interests of the men who depend upon newspaper work for a living. Only once during his official life has Chairman Dunnell been stumped, and that was only temporarily. The press gallery. It was signed by Mrs. I. Worrell Bell. Mr. Shriver is glad the convention is to be held in June. If it were postponed until October he might be in Járl. During the tariff fight two years ago, he printed so much inside information concerning senatorial deals in sugar that he was called in court to tell where he received his information. When the correspondents reach St. Louis to-morrow night, quarters will be fitted up for the hard work to come. They will tackle first the meeting of the National Committee, which will make up the roll and decide the contests, and then will come the struggle to secure first news of any of the big steps for control. These are always fully discussed before, and invariably create a sensation when they come.

In spite of the fact that interest in the first nomination has been practically forestalled, there will be developments, significant and most important to the big dailies of the country. The Washington correspondents do not anticipate any idle hours until the great convention is a recorded fact of history.

TO KEEP A QUORUM.

Vigorous Measures Resorted To in the House of Representatives. WASHINGTON, June 8.-When the Hou reconvened at 10 o'clock this morning in continuation of the legislative day of Saturday there were only about seventy members on the floor and the leaders determined to take the necessary steps to secure and keep a quorum in attendance during the remaining hours of the session.

Mr. Sherman (Rep. of New York), chairman of the Committee on Indian Affairs, presented a resolution calling on the Secretary of the Treasury for information as to what steps had been taken to procure a settlement of the principal and interest of certain bonds of the State of Virginia, the ownership of which was assumed by the United States. A part of the Indian fund, $540,000, was invested in those bonds and a question has arisen as to whether the liability for them belonged to Virginia or West Virginia.

This resolution gave the vigilant Mr. Kem (Populist of Nebraska) his opportunity to raise the point of no quorum, whereupon a call of the House was detited upon.

The call developed the presence of 168 members, eleven less than a quorum. Thereupon the doors were closed and Mr. Dingley, the floor leader of the majority, offered a resolution, which was adopted, revoking all leaves of absance, except on account of sickness, and directing the Sergeant-at-Arms to telegraph absentees to return forthwith. Mr. Dingley stated that the difficulty in maintaining a quorum during the last few days and the fact that members were hourly leaving compelled this action.

At 10:20 a quorum appeared. The Sherman resolution relative to Virginia bonds was adopted.

A special deficiency bill providing for the pay of the salaries of members seated by the House and for several other minor matters, was passed under suspension of the rules; also a bill to establish a site for the revection of a penitentiary at Fort Leavenworth, Kan.

TO CHANGE SHAW'S WILL. Trial of the Trustees' Suit to Enlarge

Their Powers.

Judge Valliant began hearing, this morning, the suit brought by the trustees under Henry Shaw's will, to enlarge their powers so that they can put the Shaw property advantageously on the market.

The suit is brought by R. J. Lackland, Henry Hitchcock, J. W. Branch, John Green, D. F. Kaime, J. B. Johnson, G. A. Madill, Leonard Matthews, W. H. H. Petrus, J. E. Yeatman, Mayor C. P. Walbridge, F. W. Brockman, W. S. Chaplin, Chancellor of Washington University, D. S. Tuttle, Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the Diocese of Missouri, and M. L. Gray, President of the Academy of Science of St. Louis, These are the testamentary trustees under Henry Shaw's will and as such are members of the Board of Trustees of the Missouri Botanical Gardens.

The defendents are Robert F. Walker, A. Shaw, Caroline Ruth Shaw and some twenty others, who are the heirs-at-law of Henry Shaw. In addition there are included the "unknown heirs" of Mr. Shaw. Mr. Walker is made defendant so that he may represent the interest of the State.

The bill gives Saaw's will in full. Ohe of its provisions is that the real estate not required for the immediate purposes of the Botanical Gardens may be leased, but for terms not exceeding sixty years. The trustees are forbidden to make any other conveyance of the property on building leases, but have found it impracticable to do so. The trustees have some 300 acres of land which they are forbidden to allenate except by building leases and only a very insignificant portion is under improvement.

They represent that this property is surrounded by large tracts, all of which has been improved as residence property.

The Shaw lands are not available for residence purposes and will not be until they are intersected by streets and alleys.

Being unable to lease the lands, the trustees cannot raise the means to co-operate with the owners of adjoining properties.

There are six tracts in all. The most considerable is the area between McRea ar Shaw avenues and Grand avenue and th. Manchester r

Among all the sins chargeable to the session now drawing to a close this is not the least. Oklahoms is a community larger than Delaware, with larger population and greater resources. RELIEF FUND WORK.

We think the people of St. Louis gen-erally were surprised at the official an-Oceans

The impression prevails—and the Post-Dispatch thinks it is justified by the facts-that the money which the people gave so generously has been doled out with a grudging and niggardly hand that the help of those impoverished or distressed by the storm's ravages has been surrounded by too much red tape. The undoubted desire of those who gave the fund was that it should be used first in feeding the hungry, clothing the naked and housing the shelterless; and then that it should be made to go as far as possible in restoring the deserving poor to a position in which they could take up the work of self-support. It was not intended that the relief work should be confined to furnishing food and shelter and scant clothing to those in immediate need. The descriptions and pictures in the newspapers convinced those who did not see for themselves that the work of relief must of necessity take a wider range and involve a larger expenditure of money. There are hundreds of humble homes to be put in repair, and in most instances the owners of those homes are absolutely without the means to do it. It would please the people of St. Louis, would better satisfy the donors of the fund, and would more adequately meet the plain requirements of the situation, Southwest; fanned the smoulder- of the poor. The money is in hand with sentiment of bimetallism into a which to do it, and if more money than has already been subscribed is needed for this and other requirements of the situavictory is ours, I believe we ing it. The fount of benevolence has not ld award praise to whom it is been dried up even by the blunders of those who instead of smiting the rock tried to stop its flow.

Certainly it will better please the peo ple at large and the donors of the fund if $100,000 is used in this way, than if it is put into the Emergency Loan Fund to be loaned out at interest. There are several classes of sufferers from the cyclone who would be greatly helped by loans at low nterest, and it is greatly to be hoped that this plan will be successfully carried out. But there are others—and they the worst sufferers—who could not repay a loan if it were given to them without interest, whose savings have been swept away, and who for several years to come will do well if they keep themselves and those deendent upon them from becoming charges upon the community.

Nothing is more certain than that any attempt to divert any portion of the Re-lief Fund into a fund to be loaned out as a business investment will arouse such a ers' bills. storm of protest as has not yet been

We see farmers, and many have their farms mortgaged, and we are very unwilling to have our indebtedness doubled by striking out sne-half of the money of the country, as advocated by the Republic. In other words, we want to patronize a paper that is strictly in favor of the free colnage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, regardless of the action of any other country. We are getting very tired of the so-called "sound money" papers like the Republic, which insists on wiping out one-half the money of the world, thereby doubling the purchasing power of the remaining half. Lemon Bath. I the West Indies the lemon bath is almost a daily luxury. Three or four limes or lemons are sliced into the water, which is drawn haif an hour before using, so that the fruit juice may have a chance to permeate, and the deliciousness of such tubbing must be felt to be appreciated.

The sense of cleanliness and freshness it gives and the suppleness and smoothness it imparts to the skin is an experience not soon forgotten. The lemon is more than a substitute for the bran bath bags which were instituted by the French and which exquisites think so necessary for the toilet.

Lemon juice, it is said, rubbed on the cheeks before going to bed and allowed to dry there will remove freckles, sunburn and whiten the skin, besides giving it a charming smoothness and softness to the touch. This should be done about three times a week, both winter and summer, and is one of the greatest aids to such complexions as are afflicted with enlarged and blackened pores. These enlarged pores are due to deficient circulation of the blood and are to be greatly aided by vigorous rubbing with a coarse towel every time the face is washed.

Experience has taught us that this magnificent policy provided a revenue sufficient to meet the expenditures of this Government and a surplus to pay the nation's debt, thus enabling us to maintain our financial honor. And of this grand policy of Republicanism, William McKinley-Ohio's great son and America's great statesman—is a matchless champion.

Only on two Sundays in the year—the first Sundays in June and September—are the grounds open to the public, and then only from 20 clock in the afternoon until sundown. This is mandatory, according the will of Henry Shaw, who gave the garden to the public.

Notwithshanding the fearful damage done by the storm, the beautiful park had been so restored as to present its usual appearance, and barring the large number of trees that were more or less damaged, there was no evidence of the tornade.

The visitors to the garden in the early afternoon were mainly excursionists from the neighboring suburbs, who took advantage of the reduced rates to visit the city and view the work of the tornade. In the latter part of the afternoon, when it was cooler, residents of the city visited the popular resert.

DAMAGE AT SPRINGFIELD.

An Electric Storm Raged Puriously for Three Hours.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 8.—This city was last night swept by one of the most violent electrical storms that has ever occurred in this section of Illinois. It raged with unabated fury for three hours, and during this time the glare of forked lightining and rattling of heavy thunder were incessant and appalling, causing much alarm. The rain fell in a deluge. Cellars, and in many cases the first floors, of dwellings were flooded with several feet of water. The Kinsella wall paper house, recently damaged by fire, suffers a loss of $1,000. The municipal telegraph, fire and police electrical system was knocked out for eight hours, and the city left in darkness for most of the night. Alarms of fire added terror to the situation. The State House, electrical system was demoilished; telegraph office switchboards were scorched and other damage was done. The Sangamon River has risen five feet, and is still rising. Great damage to low lands is reported.

LINEMAN BODSFORD'S THRILLING EXPERIENCE 40 FEET IN AIR.

HE WAS BADLY SHOCKED. He Fell Helpless From a Pole, But Was > Supported by Wires and Was Rescued by Firemen.

Charles Bodsford, a lineman in the em-ploy of the Missouri Electric Light and Power Co., received a shock from a live wire, while working near the top of a pole, at Fourth and Poplar streets Monday morning. He became helpless and fell on the wires. It was necessary for a hook and ladder truck of the Fire Department to the top. This pole is owned by the Bell Telephone Company, and it has about thirty lines on it.

The electric company has four very heavy insulated wires on the top cross beam and six on the lower one. Bodsford had been instructed to cut one of the dead wires at the top, but he picked the wrong one, and started to sever a wire which carried 2000 yolts.

there he dropped farther down, much as a nickel passed through the fare-boxes in horse-cars before conductors were employed.

Finally he struck on the heavy electric wires on the lower beam and his body lay there across the coper strands as though they were intended to support human bodies.

The foreman of the linemen rushed to the engine house at Third and Elm streets and called out a hook and ladder truck, which rushed to the scene.

The extension ladder was thrown up against the lower wires, forty feet from the pavement, and the firemen rushed up to where Bodsford was lying unconscious. In a very few minutes they had a rope about his shoulders, and two firemen, with the assistance of the rope, got the body down to the ground.

In a few minutes the shocked man was so far revived that he was able to get into the superintendent's buggy with the assistance of his companion linemen. He was driven to a doctor's office, where it was said that he was not fatally injured. He was then taken to his room in a lodging house on South Second street.

ROW AMONG THE SMOKE ABATERS

EX-CITY COUNCILMAN J. K. CUM MINGS RESIGNS.

HIS LOVE FOR LOUIS FUSZ

Thought the Association Played Favor ites in Stopping Some People's Smoke and Not Others.

Ex-City Councilman J. K. Cummings, who for over twenty years has been a conspi-uous reformer in municipal affairs, has retired from the executive committee of the littsens' Smoke Abatement Association. ntly he got a copy of the annual r , and after perusing its contents, made tick visit to the office of the Association, ng for Secretary Cox, but not finding im in he dictated his resignation to stenographer there and took his departure. He was in a very indignant frame of mind, stenographer there and took his departure. He was in a very indignant frame of mind, and his resignation and his reasons for retiring from the committee were couched in terms emphatic and expressive.

That there was any discord in the Association's ranks did not crop out until Monday morning, when Mr. Cummings admitted to a Post-Dispatch reporter that he had used sality terms in his letter withdrawing from the committee.

"Yes, I did send them my resignation," he said, "and I am out of the Association to stay. I did because I was dissatisfied with the way Mr. Kennard and his PoohBah, Mr. Cox, down there in the Security Building were running things. Some time ago I called the attention of the policeman walking the beat around my house to the unbearable smoke discharged from the stacks of Ramiose's shoe factory, a block morth of my house. The policeman said he had nothing to do with it and advised me to see the Captain.

"At the next meeting of the committee I introduced a resolution asking that the Police Board be requested to have the patrolmen report these nuisances wherever they existed and it was adopted. Then, despite my objection, they made me a committee of one to see the board myself, instead of sending a communication. That I did not like for the very good agason that I am getting too old to be running such errands.

"Then I ascertained that the association was playing favorites in prosecuting one man and overlooking another. They were fiving my friend Louis First much annoyance when he discharged no more smoke than his neighbors. My disgust became supreme when I went down there and saw the annual report.

prems when I went down there and saw the annual report.

"They had a whole lot of stuff in it about smoke, but nothing about the receipts and expenditures. Nothing to show what was done with the money, or how much was needed to keep the association running and Mr. Cox's salary paid. That did not strike me as a business like way of running things, so I said so in my letter, the contents of which I cannot exactly recall now, but what I have told you is the substance. "I was on the committee a year, paid in $15, and could do nothing to stop a smoke nuisance right here at my door. I believe in reforms when they are needed, but the association will never do any smoke abating until they change their plans of running things.

"The particular nuisance which got me started is still in existence. Tels shoe

"The particular nuisance which got me started is still in existence. This shoe factory belched out smoke of the most objectionable kind. They use elack coal, and as additional fuel use the scraps of leather picked up in the factory. The smell and smoke together are sickening, but they let nuisances of that kind run, and keep worrying Louis Fuez."

TWO MEN KILLED. They Were Struck by a Wabash Train

standing on the Wabash track, near the depot at Venice, Ill., Sunday afternoon.

The noise made by a train passing on the Big Four track drowned the sound of an approaching Wabash freight, and while the men were talking they were struck by the engine.

They were tossed in the air and their dead bodies fell on opposite sides of the track. Suleberg's skull was fractured. Susbold was injured internally and one of his legs was broken.

The corpses were carried to the town hall and inquests held. The verdicts were death by accident. Suleberg's wife was notified and she went to Venice to take charge of her husband's body. He had stil in his pocket when he was killed. Sambold was unmarried and worked in the car factory at Madison.

Davis, Sounds a Warning.

Bart Davis, mate on the steamer Idlewild, was fined $100 and costs in the United States District Court for assaulting Bob Smith, a rousabout.

Davis entered a plea of guilty. Judge E. B. Adams in passing sentence said that hereafter he intended to call a jury to try such cases whenever requested by the District Attorney. The Judge said he was determined to see that the brutality of steamboat mates, against whom there were so many complaints filed recently, should be stopped. Hereafter, said Judge Adams, in aggravated cases the full Emit of the law will be meted out to persons convicted on this charge.

Davis paid his fine and costs, amounting in all to $M7.03. There are three cases still pending against him.

STREET SIGNS HELD.

Customs Officials Insist That They Must Pay Duty.

A dire and unexpected calamity has overtaken Commissioner Milner's street signs, and as a result there may be some unidentified corners during convention week.

The Revenue Department has captured the last shipment from the English works, and is holding it until the signs can be classified under the schedule. The authorities believe that the signs should pay duty, but just under what clause they come they do not know. The first shipment came through very nicely and paid only a nominal sum, but the second got into trouble because of the activity of a rival sign concern in calling the attention of the Revenue Department to its oversight.

This delay has set the work back some time, and there will be no signs on several important streets east of Grand ayenue. A dire and unexpected calamity has over-

CARROLL MUST PAY.

His Oklahoma Divorce Does Not Prevent an Alimony Order.

Notwithstanding John B. Carroll got Oklahoma divorce from Nellie Carroll, Judge Russell decided Monday that he must pay her alimony pending her suit against him for a divorce. They were married in September, 1888, and lived together until June 15, 1894.

Carroll resisted the motion for alimony on the ground that the marriage had been dissolved by a decree of divorce rendered in his favor in Oklahoma.

SILVER BULLION looks to me to be

SILVER BULLION looks to me to be a safe purchase at current rates. BILVER has been stirred into activity by the "public prints" proclaiming the should Mr. McKinley receive the Republican nomination for President of the United States it would be beneficial to silver, and should the Democratic Convention declare for FREE BILVER it would derive still greater benefits. The SILVER exports from January 1 to June 1, 1896, were valued at Twenty Million Dollars, against Thirteen Million Dollars for corresponding period in 1895, and Fifteen Million Dollars for same period in 1894. England has also been a large exporter of silver this year, and teen Million Dollars for same period in 1894. England has also been a large exporter of silver this year, and London to-day is in the market bidding for everything in sight, and offering a small premium for deliveries three months hence. France is in the market for SILVER for Russian coinage, Japan has taken from England nearly Two Million Dollars in April, and is known to be a probable buyer of SILVER to pay off some temporary War Loans. Spain bought Four Million Dollars worth of SILVER in May, and has unfilled orders for Four Million Dollars more of SILVER BULLION. The above facts are sufficient to show that SILVER is in demand, and there does not appear to be any large stocks of SILVER in the markets of the World Production has fallen off immensely, but so gradualy as not to have excited comment. The lowest price for BILVER this year was 67 1-2c per ounce and the highest was 69 3-8c per ounce. In 1890 the passage of the Sherman Act by the U. S. Senate caused a great advance in SILVER BULLION—it sold as high as 121 1-4c per ounce; and although I do not anticipate such figures at present, I do expect considerably higher prices and wide fluctuations. I recommend my friends and customers—silversmiths and manufacturers, to I recommend my friends and customers

Thompson at the Southern, but the hitch is not yet straightened out.

Maj. C. C. Rainwater, chairman of the Local Committee on Accommodation, promises that the colored delegates will be suitably housed, no matter at what cost, in conformity with the piedges given by the St. Louisans before the National Committee at Washington.

Meanwhile the colored brother doesn't know where he stands.

When the committee of St. Louisans was in Washington seeking the convention this question came up, and the St. Louis hotel keepers were wired to find how they stood on the question of entertaining colored delegates. The reply which came back was that there would be no discrimination, and accordingly this promise was given.

That the hotels never meant to keep their word is the construction put on the present situation by the colored men. There are no rooms at either the Southern, Planters', St. James, Lindell or St. Nicholas for the colored delegate, or any one else, for that matter, and the managers of these hostelries assert in their own defense that everything was grabbed up by the white delegates so soon after it was decided to have the convention here that when the black men applied there were really no rooms for them.

The Laclede Hotel has contracts with the Texas and South Carolina delegations, in which there are a number of colored men, and these contracts will be kept.

Proprietor Griswold declares that he will keep his word in this respect. The negroes who are delegates will be treated exactly the same as white men while they are at his hotel.

who are delegates will be treated exactly the same as white men while they are at his hotel.

There are a number of clubs which made contracts with the Laclede for quarters, but in these cases Mr. Griswold stipulated that no colored men should be allowed. He will only care for colored delegates.

Judge Long settled the whereabouts of the Floridians during convention week Monday morning after a visit to Mayor Rainwater. He called at the Mayor's office in company with Proprietor Thomas B. Miller of the St. James Hotel. The latter was on hand to assure the Chairman of the Accommodations Committee that there were the colored delegates might have them, he said.

The Mona House on North Sixth street will be the headquarters of the Florida delegates. The Mississippians had engaged this place, but owing to its proprieday's refusal to allow any women in the house and as some of the delegates expected to have their wives with them the contract was canceled.

The Florida politicians will come without these impediments, and hence the Mona House is suitable for their purposes.

The Mississippians are sill out in the cid, although Maj. Rainwater thinks he can get them housed in one of the building on Fourth street, which Proprietor Hurst, of Hurst's Hotel, has engaged for convention week. A dicker to this end is now being made.

Committeeman Hill said:
"I don't want to talk until I see the gentieman who had in charge the duty of securing us quarters. He will be here to-morrow, and when I have seen him and understand what he has done I will be ready to stand what he has done I will be ready to say more.

"We have no accommodations now, but I hope and believe St. Louis will keep the promise they made me in Washington that the colored people will be taken care of. None of the delegation proper will be here until a week from to-day, so there is still time.

"For myself I have been courteously treated here. I had a room at Hursi's last night and gave it up because I intended staying with friends. I will be here two weeks and do not expect to at a hotel."

Tom McAliester, the secretary of the Mississippi delegation, is the only other colored man who has put in an appearance. He arrived Monday morning. He had difficulty in finding Mr. Hill, but even after having done so was somewhat surprised to discover that he had no place to go. He wandered around the Southern Hotel all morning in a disconsolate sort of way, with his grip slung over his shoulder, waiting for Mr. Hill to find him a place to hang up his hat.

some of the colored people have been locased on South Sixteenth street. It is understood that the Alabama people will go to M. S. III, and the Virginians to No. 212. These houses are large and roomy and closerto the Convention Auditorium than the down-town hotels.

"There is no occasion to worry over this question," said Maj, Rainwater. "All of the colored delegates will be nicely taken care of. Why, I have plenty of rooms in private house, and the colored men can be put in them if the hotels are too crowded."

Judge Thompson, who is the leading Mo-Kinley man now here, is exerting himself to see that the colored men get accommodations. The Canton Major's albertents realize that his supporters in the black race will be liable to hold McKinley responsible in an indirect way for any discomfort they suffer, and are doing everything in their Power for them.

One of them had this to say:

"The discrimination against the negro is, of course, absolutely beyond McKinley's power to change, but nevertheless, I happen to know that the representatives of these colored McKinley delegates depend upon and and have asked the McKinley managers for redress. They have argued that the cand date to whom their votes are pledged and the promoters of his campaign are in duty bound to move heaven and earth to secure fair treatment for them. I know them. No half-hearted sympathy will quell their displeasure. They will require work energetic and honest, and they hold that if the Mo-Kinley managers to time, in view of the pledges made at Washington the proper the pledges made at Wash

The greatest not be satisfied simply by a roof over their heads and plenty to eat. They have been promised equal accommodation everywhere in the city, and that is what they will demand. Falling to secure this, as even the most sincere effort of the McKinley managers must fall, you may look for a dissatisfaction little less than a revolt, and it will become one, perhaps, if the opponents of the Canton Major are as earnest and persistent as they now lead the public to believe they will be.

"But I have no idea that the opposition appreciates the possibilities of these conditions. I am glad of that. If they knew the negro, and how insistent he is upon his rights when he believes that he has any opportunity of securing them, I would really fear for McKinley. You see the discrimination against the colored delegates offers them something of an excuse for bolting their instructions. If these fellows have still unsettled.

STRIVING FOR A STRADDLE.

Grosvenor Cudgeling His Brains Get Up a Document Satisfactory to Free Coinage Men.

Special to The Post-Dispatch. WASHINGTON, June 8.—The Republicans are alarmed at the boldness with which the silver men in their party are asserting their sentiments. For the last two days the one subject of discussion by the leaders in Congress has been the formation of a platform that will prevent a bolt at St.

Gen. Grosvenor has drafted at least a dozen different propositions on the money question and has passed them around for approval and suggestions. One free silver Senator, who is chairman of a State delegation to the St. Louis Convention, says that three different platforms were submitted to him yesterday. He says that all three 'were 'straddles' and that he informed the Republicans who sought his advice that none of them would be acceptable to the silver Republicans who sought his advice that none of them would be acceptable to the silver Republicans.

While the gold standard Republicans and Democrats are discouraged the silverites are growing more confident and more aggressive. This attitude of the silver men has had the effect of inspiring Speaker Reed with the belief that he still has a good chance of getting the St. Louis nomination. His present theory is that the attempts of the McKinley managers to prepare a 'straddle' on silver will drive the gold Republicans to him, and that they will make a fight strong enough to give him the nomination. The Speaker is in dread of a determined purpose of the McKinleytes to stampede the convention to him for Vice-President, and swears with great emphasis that he will not take second place under any circumstances.

Another method by which the McKinley managers hope to placate the silver and gold wings of the party is to insert in the platform a clause denouncing the use of the veto power by the President. This adopted, the McKinley managers will go to the silver leaders and say:

"We have fixed things so that, if you get 'we have fixed things on that, if you get 'we have fixed things on that, if you get 'we have fixed things on that, if you get 'we have fixed things on that, if you get 'we have fixed things on that, if you get 'we have fixed things on that, if you get 'mentod the silver 'we have fixed things on that, if you get 'we have fixed things on that, if you get 'mentod the silver 'we have fixed things on that, if you get 'we have fixed things on that, if you get the McKinley managers will go to the silver leaders and say:

"We have fixed things so that, if you get a free silver majority in both House and Senate your free coinage legislation can become a law. The President will not veto it. You cannot expect to have free coinage unless you have a majority in both houses."

Republican silver Senators insist that the convention must declare for either silver or gold; no compromise or makeshift will be entertained for a moment. They claim that the financial question is paramount and must be made the issue.

After being away from home two months and subjected to the utmost degredation by her betrayer, Pearl Noble, a sweet-faced girl of 16 years, has been found by the lover whom she foreook to go with the man who had no appreciation of her affections.

The parents of the girl are respectable and quite wealthy residents of Forest City, Ill., her father being a lumber merchant of that place and owning considerable timber land. Pearl was betrothed to a Chicago salesman who in his travels occasionally visited Forest City. It was to be a June wedding. But a handsomer man came, saw and conquered, and one night two months ago a slender girl, whose face was concealed behind a dark veil, caught the train out of Forest City with the handsome man and both came to St. Louis.

That man was William Hardesty, the girl says.

That night when she realized where she had been led she left, but she got no further than the street when Hardesty met her and threatened to kill her unless she returned and made money for him.

For four weeks she handed him every dollar as she got it, and then he suddenly disappeared, and has not been seen since.

Last Friday night Pearl Noble was taken from the Clark avenue resort in an ambulance to the City Hospital and was transferred from there Saturday to the Female Hospital. The newspapers published the fact that Pearl Noble, a fallen woman, had taken morphine to end her wicked life, and and had been taken to the hospital.

Those few words were read by the man who loved the girl when she was pure, and whose heart did not faiter to help ner when she had fallen. He took the first train from Springfield, Ill., and got into St. Louis Sunday.

He called at the Female Hospital immediately, and, although he left money with the superintendent to care for the girl, he declined to give his name, and Pearl also refused to say who he was.

The meeting of the two was pathetic. No word of the girl's acts was spoken, but tears told the story. She will be able to leave the institution in a few days, and then the lover she deserted will take her back to her home and claim her as his own as though nothing had happened.

KILLED A BYSTANDER.

Andrew Smith Shoots at the "Terribl Swede" and Slays James Hickey.

Andrew Smith, an iron molder, living at 224 South Second street, shot and instantly killed James Hickey at 5:20 o'clock Sunday evening at Third and Barton streets.

stantly killed James Hickey at 6:20 o'clock Sunday evening at Third and Barton streets.

The shot which cost Hickey his life was intended for Peter Peterson, "the Terrible Swede," a local prize fighter.

Smith was arrested soon after the shooting, and is held for the Coroner. He is a brother of Patrolman George Smith, of the Central District.

The fight which resulted in the killing seems to have been the direct outcome of a season of Sunday convivality.

According to Smith, he "was na fou, but just had plenty," and several other men with him were in the same condition.

They had been down to the river and were walking back up Barton street.

At the intersection of Third street they met a man, who proved to be Peterson, and several companions.

Sullivan, a frequenter of the neighborhood and a friend of Peterson, passed.

Smith made an uncomplimentary remark about him, which Peterson resented.

A fight ensued and Smith, who was down, was being baddy worsted when some unknown person handed him a revolver.

He fired only one shot, he claims, though others say there were several, and it plerced the heart of James Hickey, a disinterested spectator.

The whole, crowd dispersed immediately and Peterson escaped. Smith was arrested two blocks away. He appeared to be dazed and was unable to give a satisfactory account of the affair.

Hickey's body was taken charge of by the police and sent to the Morgue.

He came here three weeks ago from Terre Haute, Ind., and had been employed under Smith's father at Helmbach's Forge and Rolling Mill at Second and Barton streets.

A casual acquaintance existed between Hickey and Andrew Smith and they were on good terms with each other.

Hickey has been boarding at 2355 Bouth Second street. He was 35 years of age.

Smith is 28. He is a very tall man and looks to be in bad health. He regards the killing as an unavoidable accident and is maniny solicitous for the welfare of his wife, who is on the verge of motherhood. They were married a year ago.

An inquest on Hickey's body will be held

Col. Jones' vote for Governor on the first ballot will be in the neighborhood of 550, or 215 mere than the necessary majority. Col. Jones says the report of the result published the Sunday's Post-Dispatch was a marvel in journalism. How the Post-Dispatch correspondent received the accurate returns from so many interior counties in such a short time was a mystery to the next Governor of Arkansas. He says returns now coming in corroborate the figures in every particular.

Judge Bunn for Chief Justice also made great gains in Saturday's elections. He will fall short of the nomination on the first ballot by but few votes. The same applies to Clay Sloan for Auditor and A. C. Hull for Secretary of State. Up to Saturday R. W. McFarland was far in the lead for the latter place.

The contest has narrowed down between Gen. Neill, the present incumbent, and S. Brundige of Searcy.

'I had been sick with ulceration of the womb, causing all kinds of diagreeable experiences, such as irritability, sleeplesaness, faintness, and at times hysterics. My physician said it was the worst case he ever had. My back sched, leucorrhoea very profuse, and I had a severe bearing down pain.

I had not taken more than one-fourth of a bottle, before I was more comfortable. I continued its use, also the Sanative Wash, and Liver Pilla. After using four bottles, I was able to be out, and do almost all my work. I think the Vegetable Compound is the only medicine that will cure female complaints, and it will reach the worst complaints, and it will cure female complaints, and it will reach the worst cases in a very short time.
